

Winning Library Card Artists To Be Announced February 10th, 2 P.M.

SAINT PAUL, MN - Saint Paul Public Library held its first-ever Library Card Design Contests - one for kids and one for teens - last month, and the public response was greater than expected. Over 1,100 kids and teens submitted their artwork for consideration.

Eighteen finalists in each category have been chosen, and Mayor Chris Coleman is selecting the top three winners in both the kids' and teen contests. All finalist artwork is posted on the library's Web site: www.sppl.org/library-card-contest/

All finalist artists and their families and friends are invited to a reception held in their honor at Central Library, 90 West Fourth Street, Saint Paul, at 2:00 p.m. on Saturday, February 10. Mayor Coleman and Library Director Melanie Huggins will host the event and will announce the winning artists, whose art will appear on the new library cards later this winter
